Environmental Filtration

Australian Designed and Built

The Max-Dry range is designed for painting various dimensioned work pieces. It is space efficient and this allows installation in any working environment.

Maximum Economy

The Max-Dry range is the lowest cost spray booth around to purchase and to maintain. The user replaceable filters are also low cost, but high performance.

High Filtration

The coalescing filter material performance can reach 98% used properly.

Long Useful Life

With minimum air flow resistance coalescing filters (as low as 35Pa on new filters) aid in low system static pressures. The benefits are reduced energy consumption and a saving in power costs.

Easy Filter Renewal

With nifty removable filter panels it is easy to quickly change filters, saving time, helping you maintain maximum productivity.

Principle of Operation

With the thousands of filaments arranged in numerous layers, paint laden air is drawn through the filter media, each time the air changes direction paint collides with a filament due to its inertia. Once the paint touches the filter media it adheres to the filter surface. Only air passes freely through the filter.

Galvabond Steel Construction

The Max-Dry is entirely built with pre-fabricated galvanised steel panels. This avoids corrosion and resists scratching. The panels can be supplied unassembled permitting easy on site assembly in work shops with restricted access. Also freight costs are reduced.

Spares

Filters are available in pre cut panels to fit directly or in bulk packs uncut.

Accessories

Control panels to Australian Standards AS4114 complete with interlocks sensors solenoids and indicators. This is a Work Cover and Electricity Supply requirement. Full range of ducting available. Wet wall filtration spray booth systems also available.
